TEACHING KIDS:

Chants: This is a fun way for pupils to learn new vocabulary and proper syntax. <http://www.esl4kids.net/chants.html>

Internet project: this is a great link to an online project for kids. They learn how to make an online village or a code of Arms. <http://www.yourchildlearns.com/village.htm>

Flash cards: Print your own ready-made flash cards. <http://www.1-language.com/eslflashcards/>

Games and activities for children: There are lots of activities to add to your lesson plan or use as warm ups. You can also adapt some of them for teenagers or adults. <http://www.eslkidstuff.com/Classroomgamesframe.htm>

E pals (Pen pals) <http://www.zen.org/~brendan/kids-pen.html>

Songs: introduction and warm up songs. Useful when starting a class to get pupils to focus. http://dragon.sleepdeprived.ca/songbook/songbook_index.htm

Flashcard game: <http://www.eslkidstuff.com/flashcardgamesframe.htm>

Writing: I really like this new way of teaching kids to begin writing. Try it! <http://handwritingforkids.com/handwrite/>

Songs and lyrics: <http://kids.niehs.nih.gov/games/songs/childrens/index.htm>

Trivia: This is a great website on geography, history, movies and much more. <http://www.funtrivia.com/>

Coloring pages: Lots of coloring pages when working on colors, shapes, animals and more. <http://www.afunk.com/>

Stories, games and more: BBC 's website Cbeebies <http://www.bbc.co.uk/cbeebies/>

Arts: Art projects for children <http://www.artistshelpingchildren.org/>

Storytelling activities: Stories telling ideas for children. <http://www.storyarts.org/lessonplans/lessonideas/index.html#songs>

RESOURCES FOR TEACHING

ENGLISH ONLINE:

Busy Teacher – www.busyteacher.org

Busy Teacher has thousands of worksheets and activities that you can download immediately, for free. Simply one of the best sites you'll find for TEFL online, whether you're teaching English in a real or virtual classroom. Yes please!

Breaking News English – www.breakingnewsenglish.com

If you want to add a current affairs flavour to your lessons, this site is your new best friend. New lessons are added every couple of days based on a story that's in the news. You can pick out individual activities or download a full mini-lesson.

Film English – www.film-english.com

Film and audio clips are a great way to break up your online English lessons. Film English has some great topic-based lesson plans and activities centred on short films that are available for free online. Win-win for those trying to earn money (not spend it!)

Glogster – www.edu.glogster.com

When it's just you and a computer screen, it's important to make that screen look as appealing and interesting as possible. Glogster is a great resource for making your own interactive, electronic posters. Or, if you want to take it one step further, try out Prezi (www.prezi.com). Your students will definitely thank you!

Moodle – www.moodle.org

Once you've launched your online teaching career, chances are you'll want to develop online courses all of your own. And when you do, there's not many better online teaching platforms than Moodle. Or if you're looking for something a little simpler and cheaper, check out the very user-friendly udemy (www.udemy.com).
